Empowering Kidney Care:
A One-Day Conference
with Nurse-Physician Partners

in Collaboration with

New!

This year's program includes Empowering Kidney Care: A One-Day Conference with Nurse-Physician Partners in Collaboration with the American Society of Nephrology on Saturday, September 27. This special program is included with full conference registration.

Attend in person or livestream from anywhere!

The hybrid educational program features in-person and livestream registration options. Gather with nephrology colleagues and learn in person, or network with other attendees online while you livestream sessions from your home or workplace. Choose the educational experience that meets your professional needs and schedule.

At the American Nephrology Nurses Association (ANNA), we are committed to health access for all individuals and the core values that support this which are foundational to our culture. We strive to create an environment where all individuals are respected, valued, and empowered, and where our practices are both equitable and inclusive. By embracing and celebrating our differences, ANNA fosters a sense of belonging that unites individuals from all backgrounds, cultures, and perspectives. This inclusive climate strengthens our community and supports the advancement of ANNA's mission and vision.

111 Explore Dialysis Evolution

1.0 CH

Amanda Rivenbark, BSN, RN Nancy Colobong Smith, MN, ARNP, ANP-BC, CNN, FANNA

Dialysis has come a long way since its invention in the 1940s. Newer dialysis machines are more compact, userfriendly, and efficient, and provide better monitoring. Modern dialyzer membranes are designed to remove larger molecules more effectively, enhance toxin clearance, and reduce inflammation, leading to better overall patient outcomes. There also have been improvements in vascular access management, medications for patients with kidney disease, and a push to make hemodialysis more accessible for patients to perform at home. Hemodiafiltration (HDF) is a renal replacement therapy that combines both hemodialysis and hemofiltration. A large amount of fluid is removed via HDF, and smaller waste molecules are cleared via hemodialysis, allowing for a more thorough cleaning of the blood. HDF mimics more of the kidney's natural filtration process. Research has shown that HDF may be associated with improved long-term outcomes.

Presentation of Daisy Award for Health Equity

11:00 am - 12:15 pm CONCURRENT SESSIONS (121-123)

121 Nurturing your Kidneys: The Power of Plant-Based Diets 1.25 CH

Maureen Craig, DNP, RN, DipACLM, CNN, APHN-BC

This session will discuss the advantages of plant-based diets for individuals with chronic kidney disease, particularly those who also have inflammatory co-morbid conditions such as hypertension, diabetes, and autoimmune diseases. The speaker also will share results of a comprehensive literature review on plant-based diets.

122 Optimizing Transplant Processes: A New Era in Organ Donation and Transplant Practice 1.25 CH

Geraldine Zingraf, DNP, MBA, RN, CNN, CCTC This session will cover the latest advancements in organ allocation policy focusing on optimizing transplant outcomes. Oversight of organ allocation, involvement of stakeholders, and recent updates in solid organ transplantation will be discussed. Key topics will include modernization of organ allocation systems to improve fairness, efficiency, and overall transplant success rates.

123 Guiding Excellence: Nephrology Nurse Preceptor Leadership

1.25 CH

Beth Ulrich, EdD, RN, FACHE, FANNA, FAONL, FAAN

This session will take a deep dive into "Guiding Excellence: Nephrology Nurse Preceptor Leadership," a program designed to empower experienced nephrology nurses in their role as mentors and preceptors. This initiative focuses on developing leadership skills to support the training and professional growth of nurses in the field of nephrology.

12:30 pm - 2:00 pm131 Lunch / Product TheaterPending corporate support

Thursday, September 25

2:15 pm - 3:30 pm CONCURRENT SESSIONS (141-143)

141 Lupus Nephritis: Changes and Updates in Evidence-Based Practice 1.25 CH

Mary Schira, PhD, RN

This session will explore the evidence-based practice (EBP) related to lupus nephritis (LN), a severe manifestation of systemic lupus erythematosus that can lead to significant kidney damage. Recent advances in research and EBP have greatly improved the understanding and management of LN.

Moving Beyond One-Size-Fits-All: A Deep Dive into Dialysis Prescriptions, Fluid Management, and Dry Weight Targets 1.25 CH, Rx

Louisa Freiberger, RN, CDN

This session will explore personalized approaches to dialysis care, moving beyond a one-size-fits-all model. It will focus on tailoring dialysis prescriptions, fluid management, and dry weight targets based on individual patient factors. Best practices for calculating dry weight will be discussed alongside case studies to illustrate real-world applications. A patient-centered approach to dialysis will be emphasized, aiming to improve outcomes by considering each patient's unique needs and circumstances.

143 Launching Confidence and Competence: Utilizing ANNA Competencies for New Nephrology Nurses 1.25 CH

Glenda Robertson, MA, RN

This session will focus on supporting new nephrology nurses by utilizing ANNA competencies. It will highlight the importance of learner competency assessment that are recognized by national nursing organizations. These assessments measure a new nurse's knowledge, skills, and values against established national standards. The goal is to identify areas for further learning, helping new nephrology nurses build confidence and competence as they grow in their roles.

3:45 pm - 5:00 pm CONCURRENT SESSIONS (151-153)

151 Solving the CKD-MBD Puzzle: Targeted Therapies and Pharmacologic Innovations 1.25 CH, Rx

Leah Foster Smith, MSN, APRN, FNP-BC, CNN-NP, FNKF, FANNA

This session will explore the pathophysiology and implications of chronic kidney disease (CKD)-mineral bone disease (MBD), including current treatment guidelines and pharmacological interventions and innovations.

152 Turning the Tide: Managing Acute Kidney Injury on Home Dialysis 1.25 CH

Alicia Zerkle, BS, RN

This session will provide an overview of managing acute kidney injury (AKI) in patients on home dialysis. Key strategies for successfully caring for these patients, including accurate assessment and monitoring of kidney function, will be shared. The session also will address challenges associated with caring for patients with AKI on home dialysis and offer insights into overcoming these hurdles to improve patient outcomes.

153 Considerations for Providing Inclusive Care to LGBTQ Nephrology Patients: Addressing Unique Health Needs and Challenges 1.25 CH

Shannon Whittington, DNP, MSN, CCM LGBTQ+ Health Certified

This session will focus on providing inclusive care to LGBTQ nephrology patients, highlighting their unique health needs and challenges. The importance of cultural competency and sensitivity in nephrology care, barriers to access. and opportunities for improving care will be explored. Mental health and emotional support for LGBTQ patients also will be discussed, emphasizing the need for a holistic approach to care that respects patients' identities and fosters a supportive environment.

211 Foundations of Leadership in Nephrology Nursing: A Guide for the Novice Nurse Leader

Judy Kauffman, DNP, MSN, RN, CNN

This session is designed to equip novice nurse leaders in nephrology with the essential skills, strategies, and tools needed to succeed in their leadership roles. Focusing on both general leadership principles and nephrology-specific challenges, this session will provide valuable insights for navigating the complexities of the field.

10:45 am - 12:00 pm CONCURRENT SESSIONS (221-223)

221 Decoding Diabetic Kidney Disease: Pharmacologic Strategies and Innovations in Management

1.25 CH, Rx

Wendy Wright, DNP, ANP-BC, FNP-BC, FAANP, FAAN, FNAP

This session will provide healthcare professionals with a comprehensive understanding of the pathophysiology, current therapeutic strategies, and emerging pharmacologic innovations in the management of diabetic kidney disease (DKD), enabling them to optimize patient outcomes and prevent disease progression.

222 From Metrics to Mastery: A Practical Guide for Nephrology Nurses Implementing Value-Based Care Initiatives

1.25 CH

Angie Kurosaka, DNP, RN, CNN, CCM, NEA-BC, FANNA

This session will highlight the critical role of nephrology nurses in achieving value-based care goals, emphasizing how quality metrics drive improved patient outcomes and organizational success. How frontline staff, especially in dialysis units and office locations, can focus on practical, actionable steps also will be discussed.

223 An Overview of Pediatric Dialysis: Challenges and Considerations for Pediatric Patients 1.25 CH, Rx

Alicia Zerkle, BS, RN

This session will provide an overview of pediatric dialysis, focusing on unique challenges and considerations when treating pediatric patients. Specific factors in pediatric dialysis prescriptions and products as well as necessary adjustments for medication dosing in children will be covered. The session also will address special concerns that arise when pediatric patients are cared for in adult dialysis units, emphasizing the need for tailored approaches to ensure optimal outcomes for young patients.

301 Current State of Xenotransplantation 1.25 CH, Rx

Robert Montgomery Robert Montgomery, MD, DPhil, FACS
This session will focus on xenotransplantation, the transplantation of organs or tissues from one species to another, such as from pigs to humans. The exciting potential of this approach in addressing the organ shortage crisis as well as the complex challenges it brings will be explored.

10:15 am - 11:30 am

CONCURRENT SESSIONS (311-314)

311 Home Dialysis 1.25 CH

Graham Abra, MD Frank Liu, MD Louisa Freiberger, RN, CDN Lucy Todd, MSN, ACNP, CNNe, FANNA

An interactive panel discussion will focus on how innovative solutions as well as best practices can enhance patient care, improve outcomes, and reduce healthcare burden, while also fostering a collaborative approach between nurses and physicians.

312 Transition Back to Dialysis after Transplant 1.25 CH

Nicole Ali, MD Michelle Josephson, MD Courtney Blocker, MSN, APRN, FNP-C Tifanny Johnson, AAS Amy Woodard, BSN, RN, CNN, CCTC

An interactive panel discussion will address how to transition a patient back to dialysis after a failed transplant, focusing on best practices that emphasize a collaborative, patient-centered approach.

313 Quality and Safety 1.25 CH

Steven Fishbane, MD Naveed Masani, MD, FACP, FASN Jennifer Payton, MHCA, BSN, RN, CNN, FANNA Jennifer Vavrinchik, MSN, RN, CNN

An interactive panel discussion will focus on quality and safety in dialysis, focusing on best practices that cover a range of important topics aimed at improving patient outcomes and minimizing risks.

314 Conservative Kidney Management 1.25 CH

Teresa Liccardi, MD
Catalina Sanchez-Hansen, MD
Christine Corbett, DNP, CNP, FNP-BC, CNN-NP,
ACHPN, FNKF, FANNA
Kate Sciacca, AGACNP-BC

An interactive panel discussion will focus on best practices between nurses and physicians and highlight a patient-centered approach for individuals who are not candidates for dialysis or transplant. Emphasis will be on managing chronic kidney disease with the goal of managing symptoms, improving quality of life, and minimizing complications.

11:30 am - 1:30 pm

331 Kidney Policy in 2025: Challenges and Opportunities from Capitol Hill to the Care Team

1.25 CH

Facilitator: Michele Kimball, ANNA Executive Director

Facilitator: Tod Ibrahim, ASN Executive Vice President

Additional faculty to be announced

An expert panel with government relations representatives from the American Nephrology Nurses Association, American Society of Nephrology, Renal Physicians Association, and National Kidney Foundation will explore the most pressing federal policy issues impacting kidney care today – from legislative and regulatory changes to workforce challenges and funding priorities. Panelists will provide insider perspectives on what's happening on Capitol Hill and in the Administration, how policy decisions are shaping clinical practice, and opportunities for collective advocacy within the kidney care community to drive meaningful change in 2026 and beyond.

401 Health Equity
1.0 CH

ANNA Health Access Committee

Speakers will discuss an innovative approach to learning that emphasizes the impact of structural inequities on individuals' experiences with chronic kidney disease (CKD) and their treatment choices. Participants will gain a deeper understanding of the specific challenges faced by those living with CKD and how they can support patient choices.

9:15 am - 10:30 am

General Session

411 ANNA Advocacy and Health Policy Update 1.25 CH

Donna Bednarski, MSN, RN, ANP-BC, CNN, CNP, FANNA

Donna Painter, MS, RN, CNN, FANNA Jim Twaddell, MA, BS

This session will provide an update on health policies that affect nephrology nursing. Health policy experts will discuss legislative and regulatory policies that can significantly impact nursing practice, education, and patient care in the field of kidney disease. Session participants will gain valuable insights into important developments that are crucial for the nursing profession in kidney care and the overall well-being of patients.

10:45 am - 11:45 am

Closing Session

421 Live Experience and Disaster Preparedness 1.0 CH

Bob Loeper, MBA, PMP Strait Gaston, BS, ADN

Bob Loeper

Strait Gaston

This session will focus on the experiences of nephrology nurses and their patients in the aftermath of a disaster. Natural disasters, such as hurricanes, earthquakes, or floods, can compromise dialysis centers and healthcare services, making it difficult for patients to access dialysis, leading to delays, and possibly preventing patients from receiving life-saving treatments. It is essential for dialysis patients and healthcare systems to prepare for disasters since preparation helps ensure continuity of care and minimize the impact on those who rely on these treatments. To reduce risks during disasters, nephrology nurses must take proactive steps before they occur and be ready to respond during and after the events.

On-Demand Sessions

On-demand sessions will be available for additional contact hour credit via the ANNA Online Library. On-demand session content is included with full conference registration; full conference registrants also may redeem up to 7.0 contact hours for on-demand sessions. The planned on-demand sessions for the conference are listed below. (Note: Contact hours are to be determined.)

OD1 Good Care Starts with Self-Care: Harnessing Nutrition and Lifestyle Strategies to Perform Better In and Out of Work

Maiya Slusser-Hogan, MS, RND, CDN, CNSC

In today's fast-paced world, the foundation of personal and professional success lies in the quality of care we provide to ourselves. This session will explore the essential relationship among nutrition, lifestyle choices, and holistic health outcomes, emphasizing that self-care is not just a personal responsibility but a vital component of overall performance. Participants will gain valuable insights into how small changes in their nutrition and lifestyle can lead to substantial improvements in their health, productivity, and overall quality of life – at work and beyond. Embrace the journey of self-care to unlock your full potential!

OD2 Provider Presence: Enhancing Shared Decision-Making in Treatment Modality Selection

Jacque Cady, APRN, FNP-C, CNN-NP

In this session, nephrology nurses will be better equipped to provide patient-centered care that respects individual preferences, enhances patient understanding of treatment options, and ultimately leads to improved patient satisfaction and adherence to chosen treatment modalities.

OD3 From Cannulation to Complications: Comprehensive Vascular Access Care in Dialysis

Katerina Jones, DNP, APRN, ANP-C, CNN-NP

This session will cover the fundamentals of vascular access care in dialysis, focusing on mastering cannulation techniques and best practices. It will provide guidance on recognizing and managing common vascular access complications, while also emphasizing the importance of patient education and engagement.

OD4 Improving Dialysis Nurse Participation in Quality Assessment and Performance Improvement Activities: Case Studies and Best Practices

Herb Cooper, MSN, RN

This session will focus on improving dialysis nurse participation in quality assessment and performance improvement (QAPI) activities, highlighting case studies and best practices. The new QAPI system and potential barriers to including other members of the facility's nursing staff in these activities will be discussed. The session also will explore how to foster organic inclusion without prompting and identify common obstacles that may hinder nurse participation in quality improvement efforts.

OD5 Giving Care in Acute Care Dialysis

Jean Colaneri, ACNP-BC, CNN

This session will explore the regulatory differences between acute and chronic dialysis units, helping to distinguish between the types of patients treated in each setting. It will define various models of care delivery for patients receiving continuous kidney replacement therapy and discuss the importance of adopting evidence-based practices to prevent central line-associated bloodstream infections.

OD6 Unlocking the Potential of CKD Modules: Education for Every Role in Nephrology

Lesley Dinwiddie, MSN, FNP, CNN

Celess Tyrell

This session will walk through the ANNA CKD Modules and discuss the importance of the modules as valuable educational tools, not just for nurses caring for nephrology patients in other settings but for all nephrology nurses, nursing students, and patients and their families. Together, we will unlock the potential of the CKD Education Modules for every role in nephrology.

OD7 Clinical Applications of APOL1-Mediated Kidney Disease

Barry Freedman, MD, FACP

This session will explore the familial aggregation of kidney disease among African Americans, emphasizing the APOL1 gene's critical role in chronic kidney disease. Participants will learn about the prevalence of high-risk APOL1 genotypes in this population, the impact of APOL1 genotyping on kidney transplantation, and the current clinical trial of therapies targeting the APOL1 gene.
